

Release Notes

FROM THE COMPANY MAKING MARKETERS POWERFUL.

Date: May 13, 2025
Version 1.3.1

Summary

We're always looking for ways to make your experience with our platform faster, more reliable, and future-ready. That's why we've made some important upgrades under the hood. In this latest release, we're excited to share how our new backend structure is setting the stage for a more powerful and seamless experience—today and into the future.

Feature Enhancements

INFRASTRUCTURE SCALABILITY & RESILIENCE

We've been working behind the scenes to give our platform a serious power-up. We've now moved key parts of our system over to a more modern, flexible infrastructure that ensures things run quicker and reliably.

Here's what that means for you:

Effortless Scalability

Our new setup can now automatically flex to handle spikes in activity. Whether it's a big launch day or just a surprise surge in usage, your experience will stay fast and seamless.

Rock-Solid Stability

Things are more resilient than ever behind the curtain. If something hiccups, it stays isolated—meaning fewer disruptions and a more stable experience overall.

Built for the Future

This upgrade isn't just about today—it's about tomorrow. The new foundation lets us roll out new features faster, boost security, and create deeper, smarter integrations to keep your workflows flowing.

Improvements

We have made the URL upload feature more targeted toward uploading specific webpages. This adjustment optimizes the speed and precision of URL uploads.

We have made minor fixes across the platform to address the following:

- Edge-cases associated with file formats. This includes improved error handling and reliability.
- The snippet being cited has been added to the preview feature on file uploads.
